

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF PSYCHIATRY AND THE LAW 2019 ANNUAL MEETING

GOALS:

To inform attendees about current major issues in forensic psychiatry and afford them opportunities to refresh skills in the fundamentals of the discipline, engage in discussion with peers on the standards governing the profession, and update their present knowledge.

CME TARGET AUDIENCE:

Psychiatrists and other physicians working at the interface of law and psychiatry.

OBJECTIVES:

Participants will improve their competence or performance in forensic psychiatry in the following three areas:

- 1) Service, including treatment of forensic patients, development of service delivery strategies, and enhancement of consultative abilities at the interface of psychiatry and the legal profession;
- 2) Teaching, including new methods of training of forensic psychiatrists and classification of the tasks and functions of forensic psychiatrists; and
- 3) Research, gaining access to scientific data in areas that form the basis for practice of the discipline.

ACCREDITATION:

The American Academy of Psychiatry and the Law is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The American Academy of Psychiatry and the Law designates this live activity for a maximum of 31.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

LUNCH SPEAKERS

Wrongful Convictions: Causes and Solutions – The Differences Between USA and Italy Criminal Justice Systems

Amanda Knox

Amanda Knox is an exoneree, journalist, and the author of The New York Times best-selling memoir Waiting to Be Heard. Between 2007 and 2015, Knox spent nearly four years in an Italian prison and eight years on trial for a murder she didn't commit. The controversy over Amanda's case made international headlines for nearly a decade and thrust her into the spotlight, where she was vilified, shamed, and harassed. Amanda now works to shed light on the issues of wrongful conviction, truth-seeking, and public shaming. Her essays and journalism have been published in Marie Claire, USA Today, The Los Angeles Times, The Seattle Times, Seattle Magazine, BROADLY, and the West Seattle Herald. She is currently the host of The Scarlet Letter Reports on Facebook Watch.

Hidden Bias: Why Our Criminal Justice System Comes Up Short

Adam Benforado, JD

Adam Benforado is a professor of law at the Drexel University Kline School of Law and the best-selling author of Unfair: The New Science of Criminal Injustice. His research is focused on applying insights from psychology and neuroscience to legal issues. A graduate of Yale College and Harvard Law School, he served as a clerk for Judge Judith Rogers on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and an attorney at Jenner & Block in Washington, D.C. He has published numerous scholarly articles in law reviews and scientific journals, and his popular writing has appeared in The New York Times, Washington Post, Scientific American, Slate, and The Atlantic.

Forensic Concerns in the Unique Practice Environment of the Foreign Service

Stephen A. Young, MD

Dr. Stephen Young is a graduate of the Tufts University School of Medicine. He completed his residency general psychiatry and a fellowship in forensic psychiatry at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He has obtained faculty appointments at the Uniformed University School of Health Sciences, The University of Florida, and the University of South Carolina. He has a wide variety of interests and has published in the areas of Mood Disorders in Women and Clinical Outcomes for Insanity Acquittes. For the past 12 years he has practiced as a Regional Psychiatrist for the Department of State, which has included tours in Senegal, Colombia, Japan, Washington D.C., the United Kingdom, and currently in Greece. He has also served as the Director of Mental Health Services for the Department of State. Dr. Young is originally from Boston; he is married and has one daughter and two grandchildren.

COURSES

Note that space is limited for courses.

Psychiatric Evaluations of Custody Disputes

Stephen Paul Herman, MD, New York, NY
Maria G. Master, JD, MD, New York, NY
Megan Mroczkowski, MD, New York, NY

This course provides comprehensive, up-to-date information for the psychiatrist who evaluates child custody disputes. We examine what makes a medical approach unique and its relevance for our times. The course is divided into five sections: 1) The many reasons for a psychiatric evaluation, as opposed to a non-medical approach; 2) The history of child custody, from Greece to Native Americans, from Africa to English common law; 3) The methodology for the evaluation; 4) Psychiatric recommendations; and 5) Current issues, from LGBTQ parents and children to addiction and intimate partner violence. We provide a syllabus with recent legal and clinical references and ample time for audience questions and comments.

Filicide: Trauma, Testimony and Treatment

Phillip J. Resnick, MD, Cleveland, OH

The motives for killing newborns (neonaticide) will be distinguished from the motives for the killing of children older than 24 hours (filicide). Child-murder by parents will be divided into five categories: (1) altruistic (includes child homicide associated with suicide, and to relieve suffering); (2) acutely psychotic; (3) unwanted child; (4) child maltreatment (fatal battered child); and (5) spouse revenge. Videotaped examples of actual cases of altruistic filicide and neonaticide will serve as a basis for discussion. Dr. Resnick will discuss the perpetrators and their spouses' reactions to the homicides. Gender differences in dispositions show that fathers are more likely to be incarcerated. Mothers are far more likely to be found insane than fathers. Fathers are more likely to commit familicide than mothers. The likelihood of parents in each category succeeding with an insanity defense will be addressed. Barriers to treatment will be identified. Finally, strategies for prevention will be covered.

Working with Culture: Considerations for Forensic Evaluations

Maya G. Prabhu, MD, New Haven, CT
Sandy Simpson, MD, Toronto, ON, Canada
Madelon Baranoski, PhD*, New Haven, CT
Mark McClung, MD, Seattle, WA
Margarita Abi Zeid Daou, MD, Worcester, MA

This workshop for mental health practitioners will provide an overview of cross-cultural considerations in forensic evaluations. Topics will include: (a) An overview of the psychiatric cross-cultural formulation with application to forensic evaluations and reference to AAPL guidelines; (b) An understanding of the difference between the constructs of indigeneity, ethnicity, race and minority group with particular application to risk assessments; (c) The role for psychological testing in assessing pathology, credibility, and acculturation within the limits of cultural and language confounders affecting the administration and interpretation of results; (d) Best practices for working with interpreters and an understanding of the literature with regard to interpreter data error; (e) Recommendations for working with populations for whom there is limited literature, for example, aboriginal populations in the Pacific Northwest. After the series of didactic presentations, course participants will be able to rotate through a series of stations with individual faculty members. Stations will include: (a) Video interpreter session with analysis; (b) Competency evaluation with emphasis on a culturally appropriate forensic formulation; (c) Psychological testing interpretation; (d) Immigration cases; (e) NGRI with emphasis on a culturally appropriate forensic formulation.

Developing and Maintaining a Successful Private Forensic Practice

Patricia Westmoreland, MD, Denver, CO
William H. Reid, MD, Horseshoe Bay, TX
Camille LaCroix, MD, Boise, ID
Jeffrey Metzner, MD, Denver, CO
Hon Edward Bronfin, JD*, Denver, CO

This is a practical course for early and mid-career forensic psychiatrists. After a brief introduction, a judge (who is a former medical malpractice attorney) will discuss what attorneys need from experts, how they find and vet them, and how they prepare experts for testimony/deposition. Judge Bronfin will also discuss what judges look for in court appointed experts. Following this, the faculty of successful and experienced practitioners (Drs. Westmoreland, Lacroix, Metzner and Reid) will discuss (1) establishing a forensic practice (establishing a referral base, building a reputation); (2) office procedures (data collection and storage, establishing and maintaining a forensic office); (3) preparing for evaluations, reports & testimony (e.g. exam venues, recording exams, when additional testing should be considered, record review, report format & content discussions, testimony and depositions from perspective of seasoned forensic expert); (4) fees, billing & collections (retainers/contracts, who is responsible for payment, billing schedules, not testifying with outstanding bills, slow payers and non-payers).

Audience interaction will be encouraged during time allowed for moderated Q&A/discussion (40% of teaching time), in which both the course faculty and AAPL Private Practice Committee members will participate. We will provide a syllabus with slides and content related to the presentations.
